STAMPWISE - WARWICK PATERSON

Christchurch Exhibition Claret - A New World Record The Burberry collection has as predicted (see April Newsletter) attracted worldwide attention to the phenomenal material that it contains. The first sale alone has totalled NZ$320,000!

Included in the sale was the "Righton" cover bearing three examples of the very rare 1d. Claret error of the Exhibition issue. One sheet of 60 stamps of this rare error was sold at the Exhibition and of course the cover illustrated on the front page of CPNLM this month is one of the very great glamour rarity items of all New Zealand philatelic postal history. Mr. Righton, the Secretary of the Exhibition, posted the cover addressed in his own handwriting on the 20th April 1907, five days after the Exhibition closed and the last day that the Exhibition Post Office was open (ref. The Great Exhibition, Christchurch by Alexander de Kort). This cover sold for NZ$50,000 (sterling £17,500). The previous record for a New Zealand cover was the Winstone cover bearing two copies of SG.1, the "London" 1d. Deep Carmine-red which sold for sterling £15,000 some years ago.

The Pigeongram collection was also sold and realised NZ$230,000. These realisations and the interest shown to date in the Burberry collection indicate the tremendous strength of quality New Zealand philatelic material in the overseas market.

Reprints from the Post Office

5c Carnelian The first reprint has appeared with one small blue Kiwi to the right of the imprint under Row 10/2 in the bottom selvedge which is known with perforations and without perforations.

50c Kiwi Fruit One small black kiwi to the right of the imprint under Row 10/2. No perforations through the bottom selvedge.

Peace Issue 25c, Plate 1A1A1A1A1A, Row 4/2 A white flaw appears just to the right of the tip of the upper wing - constant.

A New Officially Acknowledged Bisect Two letters sent in by Mr. J.F. Wilson of Port Chalmers tell an extraordinary tale. Below is reproduction of the photo copy Mr. Wilson supplied and correspondence with the Post Office at VIC Corner, Lower Hutt.

"The Postmaster, VIC Corner, Lower Hutt: Dear Sir, I have acquired an envelope emanating from Treister & Co., Lower Hutt, bearing their meter frank of 24c (dated 20.6.85) and an additional 2c stamp roughly guillotined (?) and bisected to make the postage up to 25c. The stamp and frank have been hand-cancelled at your Post Office : 5 August 1985, 4 pm mail.

I would be most grateful if you would verify the use of this bisected stamp during a temporary shortage of 1c stamps, either by your Post Office or by the firm mentioned above and if the latter, on what authority they acted.

My motives for this enquiry are purely philatelic, for this use of "bisects" in New Zealand is extremely unusual and I wish to make certain that I possess something genuine as opposed to some sort of practical joke. Yours faithfully, J.F. Wilson"

"VIC Post Office, 11 February 1986: Dear Mr. Wilson, I am sorry for the delay in replying to your letter of the 23.12.1985, but we have been extremely busy in the last two months. The chief post office had run out of 1c stamps and could not supply us and as we could not charge an extra 2c my teller cut the stamp in half. It certainly was not a practical joke. I hope this answers your question. M.A. Whitehead, Postmistress."

The question now remains - Do we have a new bisect for the Catalogue?

SLY GROGGING - "DOWNUNDER"

A client in the USA sends us a most interesting "New Zealand Alliance" publicity envelope used at Stratford in November 1899 and giving "instructive comparisons" of convictions for various periods for offences associated with the demon drink. The New Zealand Alliance, by the way, is the local equivalent in New Zealand of the Temperance Union. The front of the cover exhorts us to "strike out the top line only at the local option poll". It points out that Sir Robert Stout (now Chief Justice) wrote on 3rd June 1899 - "Every voter has a right to strike out the top line only - the line which reads I vote that the number of Licences existing in the district continue and thus vote for both NO LICENCE and REDUCTION. As a point of interest, every general election in New Zealand still gives us the same option to vote for Prohibition - believe it or not.

The back of the cover gives us "The latest from Clutha" Official Return - the number of crimes in 1898. With licensing between 1st January 1890 and 30th June 1894, the following number of crimes was noted. Drunkenness 179: Disorderly Offences (assaults, breaches of peace, obscenity etc.) 92: Other Offences 69, the total being 340. In this same period the breaches of Licensing Law and "sly grog" selling totalled 2. Under "No Licence" from 1st July 1894 to 31st December 1898 - Drunkenness 8: Disorderly Offences 38: Other Offences 48 and sly grog selling 32!

FOUR

The cover notes that "N.B. There was no crime as the law defines it in Clutha in 1898 and police offences (exclusive of sly grog selling had fallen from 20 in 1897 to 11 in 1898. If partial prohibition (for there is still one wholesaler and one publican's licence in Clutha) produces such results, what would be effected by the suppression of all licences?"

With the memory of the effects of Prohibition in America in the first half of this century and now the prevalence of alcoholism on the other hand in 1985, you might well ask.

Appropriately, the cover is printed for the New Zealand Alliance by Vine and Vine, Wanganui.

From CP's UK "Bulletin" Colin Hamilton writes: "1947 Healths - Some Remarkable New Discoveries. A collection acquired recently included several blocks with abnormally wide top selvedge (from mis-cut sheets), showing part or complete "job numbers". These are effectively plate numbers, engraved by Waterlow & Sons on the plates they produced for this and several other issues (including most values of the 1946 Peace set and the 1946 Health stamps). Due to their positioning near the edge of the plate and thus well away from the impressions, these numbers do not normally appear on issued sheets, having been guillotined off during the final trimming process and examples are therefore quite scarce and desirable. However, the real surprise was not in the numbers themselves, but in the series of "shift markings" occurring alongside and to the right of the job number. Previously, these interesting markings - in the form of varying groups of dots in the colours of the stamps concerned - have been recorded only on certain values of the 1936-43 Pictorials (4d., 5d., 6d., 8d.) and then only on some of the plates from which Waterlows made emergency printings for a few months when De La Rue & Co. (the contracted printers) were unable to maintain production due to blitz damage to their premises in late 1940/early 1941. We published a detailed article on these latter markings in our NZ Bulletin of September 1978.

Until the discovery of the 1947 Health blocks, it had been assumed, by this writer at least, that these "shift markings" were a short-lived phenomenon which ended with the handing back to De La Rue of the Pictorial plates (although of course the dots which had already been engraved on these plates by Waterlows continued to appear on sheets when De La Rue resumed printing and remained in evidence until the plates concerned were superseded). According to Volume 2 of the NZ Handbook, Waterlows explained that the dots on the Pictorial plates were markings of their Bank Note Department to indicate to them on which shift a particular sheet had been printed and that varying numbers of dots on sheets of the same value indicated different shifts. Another explanation related to me informally, is that there were internal disputes within the printing works as to which shift had printed what; in order to overcome these, the system of marking was evolved quite unofficially by the printing staff themselves; and when it came to the notice of the management, the practice was frowned upon and forbidden forthwith. This second version now seems unlikely to be accurate, unless it took a very considerable time for the management to become aware of it!

The following, then, is a checklist of items seen. Naturally, it is not necessarily complete and we should be extremely interested to learn of any additions (whether in the 1947 Healths or in any other issue printed by Waterlow & Sons).

1d. + ½d.

Blocks showing Job No. 43443:

- (i) Without dots
- (ii) With four dots (in two rows of two)

Both of the above were in blocks having the job number complete, so each of the shift markings may also be confidently taken to be complete.

Block showing Job No. 43444

With two dots (one below the other)

This was a complete offset impression on the back of the selvedge.

2d. + 1d.

Blocks showing Job. No. 43446

- (i) With one dot
- (ii) With two dots (in a horizontal row)
- (iii) With six dots (in a somewhat crooked horizontal row)

All the 2d. examples were on blocks with selvedge wide enough only to show part of the job number (about 50-60%). It is possible, therefore, that in all three cases the markings as seen may be incomplete, and that there may be further dots above those present on the blocks."

25c Peace Issue Mr. Kelvin Tyler of Gisborne has sent up a sheet of this issue with a strange flaw at Row 2/2. It takes the form of a large segmented black spot in the centre of the upper wing of the bird. Mr. Tyler says that it is semi-constant to his knowledge and its particular interest lies in the fact that there appears to be a blue shading at the extremities of both upper and lower wings, which is unlike flaws in the offset process that I have seen before and is difficult to explain. Any other observations?

1986 CATALOGUE SUPPLEMENT

CP writes: I regret that owing to a situation beyond my control, the Supplement will certainly be delayed. June is the probable date. In the meantime - sorry!

Campbell Paterson
Catalogue Editor

STAFF RECRUITMENT MEMO TO THE NEW ZEALAND POST OFFICE Trollope started with the General Post Office (Gt. Britain) as a clerk in 1834. At first he did not think of the position as being of much consequence, but as time passed "The Post Office at last grew upon me and forced itself into my affections." - From Phillips B. Freer, The American Philatelist, November 1985

Note: Anthony Trollope the prolific British Victorian novelist, was responsible for introducing free-standing mail boxes into Gt. Britain in 1851.

"Whilst writing to you, I would like to take this opportunity to express my great satisfaction with your NEWSLETTER and to praise Campbell Paterson personally for his great catalogue. It is superb and I find it bestows me with knowledge obviously not known to non-CP catalogue holders! The colour plates have lifted the status of the catalogue even higher and the concept of the loose-leaf annual updates is economical and the consequent binding makes for easy reading. As well, it's an excellent reference tool." - BR, ACT, Australia.

NZ 1898 - 1907 PICTORIALS

Lot 500 The superb "Michael Burberry" collection of these issues, in six volumes, with essays die proofs, plate proofs, Waterlow sample sheets and issued stamps in glorious profusion. The latter are chiefly in mint multiples and include virtually all major and minor varieties. Representation of the 5/- Mt. Cook alone includes blocks of 20, 6 and fourteen blocks of 4. The whole is beautifully presented and written up, in "Oriol" albums.

The collection, of international Gold Medal standard, has never been competitively exhibited and is offered by private treaty.....PRICE ON APPLICATION

MISCELLANY (Contd.)

- 254 1898 PICTORIAL - WATERMARK VARIETY
- (a) E9c, 3d. Huias, perf. 11, wmk. sideways The Cowan paper used sideways for these odd-sized stamps had the letters "NEW ZEALAND" at either (short) side with the bottoms of the letters inwards. Normally, the two impressions of the plate were printed with the top rows facing each other in the centre of the sheet. This month we have discovered a pair of stamps with the letter "W" on one stamp with the bottom of the W at the bottom of the stamp. This pair must therefore be (a) from the top row of the sheet (b) from a rare printing with the top row(s) of the two impressions facing outwards. Rare indeed in our experience and a proving piece of philatelic significance ..... $100.00
